memorial to Commodore Thomas Mac-dough, which in reality serves only to reimburse those who contributed toward the celebration, was read the third time, and passed, and House bill 47, which is similar and, therefore, unnecessary, was refused the third reading.

Five bills were taken from the appro-priations committee and referred to the committee on highways and bridges.

In the Senate the Senate bill relating to appropriations for the various poultry organizations in the state was passed to a third reading. Senator Powell introduced a bill, Senate 55, relating to the granting of broker's licenses to non-residents of the state in which the broker lives. It grants the same right to brokers of this state. Referred to the com-mittee on insurance.

Senator Carver introduced a resolution which would allow the state librarian or assistant to attend the annual meeting of the American Library association with allowance for expenses.

The resolution relating to the investi-gation of the control of newspapers was passed by the Senate with the amend-ment allowing the committee to conduct the investigation of papers in existence as far back as Jan. 1, 1910.

Bills Become Laws.

The governor has signed the following resolutions and bills:

Joint resolution providing for the in-vestigation and report upon certain changes in the public statistics and amend-ments thereto relating to court pro-cedure.

Joint resolution extending thanks to Mrs. Bettie Van Metre, a Virginian woman, for her care of Henry E. Redell, a Vermont soldier, during the Civil war.

Joint resolution to grant the use of the hall of the House of Representatives to the members of the legislature of 1910.

Joint resolution authorizing the clerk of the House to procure the printing of 2,000 additional copies of H. 170.

An act providing for the recovery of taxes paid under protest in disputed jur-isdictions.

An act to amend section 363 of the public statutes relating to notice to tax-payers.

An act to define the words "age of legal consent" as used in sections 3,055 and 3,056 of the public statutes.

Joint resolution providing for printing the proceedings of the Vermont Historical society.

Joint resolution authorizing the em-ployment of experts, and clerical and stenographic assistants by the Senate and House committee on corporations.

New Bills in House.

By Mr. Parker of Cavendish, to legal-ize the grand list of the town of Cavendish for 1913 and 1914.

By Mr. Weeks of Middlebury (by re-quest), an act to amend section 19 of 201 of the acts of 1912, relating to ruffed grouse and woodcock. Changes open season Oct. 1 to Dec. 1, inclusive. Limits five grouse and ten woodcock to one day or 35 grouse in one season.

By Mr. Davis of Johnson (by request), an act to pay E. H. Jenkins the sum therein named. (Pays back $214.97 paid as inheritance tax on estate of E. E. Pease.)

By Mr. Blodgett of Newport (by re-quest), an act to amend No. 92 of the acts of 1908, relating to appeals from the probate court in the matter of the support of insane persons. (No bond or security for costs required by alleged in-sane persons.)

By Mr. Smith of St. Albans City, an act to amend section 28 of No. 150 of the acts of 1890, relating to the charter of St. Albans. (Money raised shall not be pledged in excess of tax levied during the year which money as such credit is pledged.)

By Mr. Soule of Alburg, an act to ap-propriate a certain sum of money for the purpose of building a bridge from East Alburg to West Swanton.

By Mr. Stone of Vergennes (by re-quest), an act in amendment of the charter of the city of Vergennes relating to

The Weather

Local snows-to-night. Thursday par-tly cloudy; strong northeast winds.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Discount on everything. Knight's. Clearance sale of shoes at Tilden's. The Alburians will meet with Mrs. McMillan, 41 Currier street, Friday after-noon at 2:30.

Snow is being removed from the Buz-zell rink, and the rink will be open at the usual time this afternoon and evening.

A. L. Haylett of Bellows Falls was among the business visitors in the city yesterday and to-day.

Public whist party in K. of C. hall under auspices of L. A., A. O. H., Friday at 2 p. m. Admission, 10 cents.

The Baptist young ladies' missionary society will meet this evening at 7:30 at the church. All members and those in-terested are urged to come. The subject will be, "The Religion of China."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ladue, who have been visiting relatives in Barre and Barre Town for a week, were in the city to-day for a short stay, leaving this af-ternoon for their home in Essex Junc-tion.

Last night "The Players" presented "Tempest and Sunshine" to a big audi-ence at the opera house, and if laughter and applause are any criterion, the play was enjoyed every minute of the entire action of the play. "Tempest and Sun-shine" will be presented again to-night, Thursday and Friday. The company will not appear Saturday evening, owing to the engagement of "Damaged Goods."

Next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, "Sapho."

Mrs. Olivia Leese of New Bedford, Mass., a former resident of Barre, has sold her house and lot at the corner of School and Beckley streets to W. R. Dav-enport of Springfield, also a former resi-dent, who makes the purchase for invest-ment purposes. The house is a two-tenement structure and was occupied for several years by Mrs. Leese and family.

For the past year Mrs. Leese has made her home in New Bedford. The deal was consummated through the Barre offices of the D. A. Perry Real Estate agency.

A representative number of tenement owners of this city gathered at the city courtroom last evening for the second annual meeting of the Barre Landlords' association. Reports from the several officers were read and all tended to em-phasize the fact that the association is justifying its existence. A new official board, the personnel of which may be announced later, was elected to serve in 1915. Since its organization early in 1914, the association has been making commensurate gains in membership and at the present time it has an enrollment of 50 men and women, comprising nearly all of the larger tenement owners in Barre.

Pursuant to a policy adopted by the Tenney company in other cities where it has employees, the company has estab-lished in Montpelier a clubroom for the benefit of its assistants in the Vermont Power & Lighting Co., the Consolidated Lighting Co., and the Barre & Montpelier Traction & Power Co. The room is in the Lawrence building on State street and has been reserved for the use of the employees in the two cities and towns outlying. Pool and billiard tables have been made for a readingroom and a cardroom. Keys to the club suite have been dis-tributed to the employees and it is the purpose of the company to allow them the untrammelled use of the rooms, at expense of maintenance to be borne by the employees. Monthly lectures and papers constitute one feature of the company's restaurant and club plan.

Constable George L. Morris hired a couple of Goddard seminary students and George Emery yesterday afternoon to as-sist in the removal of loose and portable articles from the barn at 20 Tremont street owned by Mrs. Joseph Brown. Acting on a court order from Magistrate H. W. Scott, the constable and his hired hands served a writ of possession on the lease of the property and proceeded to empty the building. Three sleighs, as many wagons, shovels, ropes, boxes and other miscellany, together with three Shetland ponies, were deposited in the driveway and later transported to the barn on Merchant street formerly occupied as a livery by J. L. Arkley. Until 10:30 o'clock last night the process serv-er and the students worked busily in the hayrack where some of the property had been stored. The ejectment pro-ceedings follow closely on an action brought in court by Mrs. Brown against the tenant a short time ago.

Julian A. Dimock, a progressive farm-er of West Topsham and a frequent Barre visitor, is the author of a graphic article which appears in the February issue of the American magazine. The subject of the sketch is Roy W. Eldredge, an Orleans boy, so crippled by an at-tack of scarlet fever that he is unable to dress himself, the young man has over-come this handicap and has built up a mail order business that employs 25 hands in Barton and reaches by corre-spondence some 20,000 agents in the United States. Mr. Dimock is not a stranger to magazine readers, as he is a regular contributor to a score of periodi-cals in this country and England. An authority on hunting and fishing, he has come to Vermont and is improving a hillside farm in Topsham, giving special attention to the raising of apples. Pro-ducts of his orchard were widely distrib-uted in Barre last fall. Mr. Dimock is an ardent admirer of Vermont scenery and frequently makes extended trips with his camera for magazine material.

A worthy counterpart of the old folks' concert given several weeks ago was "The Pink Swan Pattern," a two-act playlet presented in the vestry of the Universalist church last evening under the auspices of the ladies' union. "The Debonair Corner Business Association" scored a moving success and a large audi-ence was on hand to give the rural players a hearty hand. The cast was made up as follows: "Miss Lydia Board-man," Mrs. E. T. Mower; "Scholarly Boardman," Kathleen LeBaron; "Mrs. Jones," Mrs. C. M. Beaudet; "Mrs. Eak-land," Mrs. Wicks; "Mrs. Crabtree," Mrs. G. A. Lane; "Adelaide Simpson," Mrs. F. T. Cutler; "Sarah Goodwin," Mrs. Ma-hel Cole; "Mrs. Ballou," Mrs. Clara Page; "Rose Ballou," Mrs. W. E. Drew; "Amel Anastasia Carpenter," Mrs. Ro-salind Butterworth; "Will Drew," A tidy son was supplied from the local scene, a son which was considerably augmented by the returns derived from the sale of ice cream and cake. The ladies' union plans to give the operetta, "Seven Old Ladies of Laverne Town," the latter part of the month.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Ten per cent. off on wash goods. At Knight's.

Masks for the masquerade ball at Ken-yon's.

Willis Scott has returned from Bran-don, where he was called by the illness of his mother.

Miss Madge Flood has returned to West Berlin, after spending a few days with relatives in Barre.

Robert Johnson of Division street left last evening for Woodsville, N. H., where he will visit relatives for a short time.

Mrs. Frank Tilden of Hinsdale, N. H., is in South Barre, having been called there by the death of C. J. Estabrook.

Mrs. Harry Smith returned to her home in Northfield this morning, after spending a few days with friends in the city.

The Agoga class of the Baptist church will meet at the home of their teacher, Rev. G. H. Holt, this evening for a social time.

"The Last Trump"—this is the last installment of "The Trey o' Hearts," in three reels. At the Bijou. Show starts at 6 p. m.

At their hall in the Scampini block this evening the Knights of Columbus will hold a private dance. Riley's or-chestra will furnish music.

C. H. Barton, a Burnham's meadow granite manufacturer, who has been threatened with an attack of pneumonia, is slowly recovering his health.

Elon E. Barrett of Averill street, who has been detained at home by illness for several days, was able to resume his duties at the City bakery this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin McMahon and lit-tle son of West street returned this morning from a week's visit at Mr. Mc-Mahon's former home in Sherbrooke, P. Q.

M. O. Edson of Hanover, N. H., was a visitor in town to-day, renewing acquaint-ances with former students at St. Johnsbury academy, among them Dr. E. G. Sprague.

The Miers barber shop at 167 North Main street has undergone a complete change in regard to its chairs. The chairs have been moved to the opposite side of the shop, where a new shelf of a modern type has just been installed. Carpenters and painters have just com-pleted their work and now the shop is one of the best in the city.

Mrs. William Dineen of Prospect street was taken by surprise yesterday after-noon, when about a dozen of the Mischief Makers of Presidential hall called on her. A 4 o'clock tea was served in the dining-room, after which one of the ladies rose from her seat and presented the hostess a pretty tasset. Mrs. Dineen responded in a few well-chosen words.

Arrangements for the "better farm-ing" assembly to be held in Howland hall next Tuesday evening are being com-pleted with much dispatch, and early in-dications already point to a large at-tendance of farmers and others inter-ested in the proposal of the Barre Sav-ings Bank & Trust Co. to employ a county agent for the benefit of Wash-ington county farmers. Replies to a large number of invitations sent out to large members and other people who would be likely to interest themselves in the movement have been received, and in nearly every instance the answer was favorable. It is definitely known that Governor Charles W. Gates will be present, and Thomas Bradlee of Burlington, director of an extension service connect-ed with the state agricultural college, will also be one of the speakers.

The police are trying to determine the real status of a robbery or burglary, which took place in a North Main street clothing store some time Monday night. In an effort to ascertain the circum-stances of the theft, the officers are not making public all of the facts connected with the disappearance of $25.58 from the cash drawer. Clerks in the employ of the clothing store were the first to discover the theft early yesterday morning. When the proprietor and his employees began to compare notes, it transpired that none of them had been in the store after it was closed around 9:30 o'clock Monday evening. A careful examination of the premises failed to disclose positively the means employed by the thief in gaining access to the store. Within the past two months there have been several minor thefts reported to the police.

Considerable of a furor has been cre-ated on Berlin street at intervals since Sunday night, when a young Spanish boy, who recently came to America, de-veloped signs of insanity. Since his ar-rival in Barre, the boy has been employed in doing odd jobs for Mr. Villa, and it was while he was working in Mr. Villa's barn that his queer actions were first noted. Four men were required to hold the fellow, while women in the Villa household were summoning a physician. Two doctors answered the call, and a thorough examination was made of the boy's condition. It was surmised that his insanity fit might be only a tempo-rary one, and friends of the young man were advised to watch him closely for a few days. Yesterday his condition was somewhat improved, and to-day it was stated that he had emerged from a deep sleep, apparently as sane as ever.

Rev. C. A. Boyd, the state Sunday school worker, spoke last evening to a large audience on the methods of teach-ing a class. The meeting was held at the Methodist church and besides nearly all of the Sunday school workers and pas-tors of Barre a number of the ministers of Montpelier were present. Rev. Mr. Boyd's talk was very interesting and a large number of helpful suggestions were given by him in telling of the way to teach the different classes. Before the talk of Rev. Mr. Boyd, Miss Anna Cum-mings, county superintendent of the home department, had a conference with the city home department. She dis-played the banners used by the different schools. Washington county had one of the largest galas in membership during the past year of any county in the state and the Evangelical Sunday school of Montpelier had a banner for the largest gain in membership for any single Sun-day school in the state.

Funeral services of Mrs. Hoyt Gallup, whose death occurred at her home on Plainfield hill Thursday morning, follow-ing several months' illness, was held at the house Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, Rev. E. F. Newell of Barre offi-ciating, and the bearers were as follows: J. H. Holmes of Montpelier, Dyer Gallup of St. Johnsbury, Charles Gallup of Plainfield and Harry Gallup of East Montpelier. Interment was in Cabot cemetery. Flowers contributed at the funeral were as follows: Pillow of roses, "Mother," from the family; roses from the husband, Hoyt Gallup; carnations, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Perrin; carnations, Mr. and Mrs. George Barber; carnations, Mr. and Mrs. F. Sabin; carnations, Mrs. E. M. Ide; cut flowers, Mrs. Bart Dix; carnations, Mrs. Flora Gilmore; carna-tions, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Adams; carnations, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Clark.

FUNERAL AT EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

That Of Mrs. John M. Thompson Held Tuesday Afternoon.

The funeral of Mrs. John M. Thomp-son, who died Saturday evening at the city hospital, was held yesterday af-ternoon from the Church of the Good Shepherd, Rev. W. J. M. Beattie offi-ciating. Burial took place in Hope cem-etery. The bearers were Andrew Bjorn, Neil Neilson, Hars Neilson and Neil Neilson. Beautiful bouquets of carna-tions were given by the following: Mrs. John Matson, Mr. and Mrs. E. Ander-son, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lundy, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Oelson, John Thompson and children, Mr. and Mrs. W. Matson, Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Mikkelsen, Mr. and Mrs. T. Mikkelsen, Neil Neilson, Orange, Mr. and Mrs. Neilson, Christian Bjorn, Louis Taft, Miss Mary Bjorn, Mr. and Mrs. A. Bjorn, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bjorn, Deaconess Mary, Mr. and Mrs. Odell.

First Rehearsal of Choral Society.

The fifth year of the choral society, opened last night at city hall, Montpelier, with a rehearsal attended by 150 sing-ers, at which much enthusiasm was shown. Many expressions of satisfaction were heard as to the music to be taken up this year, the selections being found to be of a variety to please all tastes. Especial favor was found in the two ma-jor pieces, "Daughter of Jairus" and "A Tale of Old Japan," which were tried out in various parts by the chorus. All in-dications point to one of the best festi-vals yet produced and anyone interested in the rendition of choral music and enjoy-able selections should be present at the rehearsals each Tuesday. The committee and Mr. Coffin are especially anxious to have a male chorus of 100 voices when taking up Schubert's "Omnes Sancti," that which there is no greater male choral selection. All those who contemplate joining the chorus will please give their names to Mrs. E. J. Fitzgerald of Montpelier or Miss Gladys N. Gale of Barre, so that music may be provided and seats arranged.

President Stacey, in opening the sea-son's work, stated in well-chosen words the worth of the society to the singers and the people of the community and felt sanguine as to the fine results to be achieved this year, calling attention to the record of the society since its incep-tion five years ago, and the splendid prospects to be obtained by the enthusi-asm and interest displayed for the future. Mr. Coffin spoke briefly as to the especial fitness of the music this year, it being, in his opinion, the best general se-lection of choral works yet attempted by the society, and judging from the pro-gram already made, a group of selections that the singers here will not only enjoy but render in remarkable form.

The rehearsal next week will be held in the Kellogg-Hubbard library, owing to the Montpelier city hall being engaged for Tuesday night. All are requested to take note of this change and urged to be present at every rehearsal, since a re-hearsal missed is a rehearsal lost.

Do Your Children Eat What Is Set Before Them?

In the February Woman's Home Com-panion a spinster, who says she is several years on the shady side of 50, sets down or records some of her very pronounced ideas on the training of children. On the subject of teaching children to eat what is set before them she says:

"As my own childhood I ate what was on the table for the family, and I don't ever remember expressing, or being asked, my preferences. It is now very advan-tageous to be able to 'eat anything, any-where!'"

"On asking a young girl recently what she particularly objected to, when she said she could not eat bacon, she replied, 'I don't know—I have never tasted it!'"

"On the occasion of a picnic supper a friend was eating slices of canned tongue, cut lengthwise and said, 'how delicious this ham is—is it deviled, or what?'"

"'It isn't ham at all,' I replied, 'it's canned tongue.'"

"Tongue!" said the aforementioned person. I can't eat tongue!" Down went the plate on the grass and not another morsel was touched."

Couldn't Return the Favors.

"Hum, ho!" sighed the New Hampshire farmer as he came in from downtown. "Deacon Jones wants me to be a pall-bearer again to his wife's funeral."

"Well, you're going to be, ain't ye?" asked the farmer's better half.

"I dunno, I know, when Deacon Jones' fast wife died, he asked me to be a pall-bearer, an' I did; and then his second wife died, an' I was the same again. An' then he married that Perkins gal, and she died, and I was pall-bearer to that funeral. An' now—well, I don't like to be all the time acceptin' favors, without bein' able to return 'em."—New York Evening Post.

We shall have a full line of masks Fri-day. Come in and make your selection. C. N. Kenyon & Co.
